

8/5/2019

I was very grateful to receive a travel grant to attend WCN in Melbourne. I had the opportunity to present my 2 posters based on a large prospective data linkage study called EXTEND45. It was also a great networking opportunity and a chance to attend a variety of presentations. Highlights of the week include watching my colleagues present in the Late Breaking session, in particular the ACTIVE dialysis trial, and the release of the CREDENCE trial results. As a junior consultant working clinically as an endocrinologist and general physician, and current full time Phd Student researching in the areas of CKD and diabetes, it was a fantastic opportunity and I appreciate the financial support from this travel grant.

Dr Tamara Young

Phd Student, The George Institute for Global Health